

Fruits and Vegetables

-Research and Action Opportunities for Human and Planetary Health

[Monday]

Dec. 6th

2021

16:00~17:45
(JST)

Place

Online/Live

Registration fee

Free

Organized by

Japan International Research Center
for Agricultural Sciences (JIRCAS)

Co-organized by

Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) Liaison Office in Japan

In cooperation with

National Agriculture and Food Research Organization (NARO)

Registration

[Registration fee / Free]

Fruits and Vegetables

-Research and Action Opportunities for Human and Planetary Health

Program

16:00~16:10

Opening Remarks

KOYAMA Osamu, President, JIRCAS
HIBI Eriko, Director, FAO Liaison Office in Japan

16:10~16:15

Introduction

NAKASHIMA Kazuo, Program Director, Food, JIRCAS

16:15~16:30

Setting the stage: The role of fruits and vegetables for planetary and human health

Ismahane ELOUAFI, Chief Scientist, FAO

16:30~16:45

High GABA tomato, a case study to apply new breeding technologies to fruits and vegetable improvement

EZURA Hiroshi, Professor, University of Tsukuba

16:45~17:00

Production forecasting systems for stable supplies of cabbages and lettuces

SUGAHARA Koji, Group Leader,
Institute of Vegetable and Floriculture Science, NARO

17:00~17:10

The status and prospects of production, distribution and consumption of fruits and vegetables in the global vs. local contexts

SHIRATORI Sakiko, Senior Researcher, JIRCAS

17:10~17:25

Moving forward: Fruit and vegetables research and action priorities

Marco WOPEREIS, Director-General World Vegetable Center

17:25~17:40

Q&A

17:40~17:45

Closing Remarks

YAMAMOTO Yukiyo, Vice President, JIRCAS

MC : MITSUGI Hiroto, Senior Advisor, FAO